ABOUT MIFF

Festival Founded in 1998, the Maine International Film Festival (MIFF) is a project of the Maine Film Center, a nonprofit organization that seeks to enrich, educate and entertain our community through film and art.

10 DAYS, 80+ MOVIES

During the 10 days of the festival we show nearly 100 films, representing the best of American independent and international cinema. We also spotlight some of Maine and New England's most exciting and innovative filmmakers.

MORE THAN JUST MOVIES...

Audiences also have opportunities to meet and talk with some of the people behind the movies - directors, producers, writers, musicians. Every year we honor members of the independent film industry whose contributions to cinema deserve recognition. Our honored guests and visiting filmmakers host panel discussions as well as informal Q&A sessions, giving the audiences an incredible chance to hear about the art of film from those on the front lines.

SPECIAL GUESTS

MIFF's special guests have included Mid-Life Achievement Award winners John Turturro, Bud Cort, Walter Hill, Lili Taylor, Ed Harris, Peter Fonda, Jonathan Demme, Sissy Spacek, Terrence Malick, and Jos Stelling. In addition to these and other American filmmakers, MIFF has brought filmmakers from Iran, Taiwan, Hungary, Chad, Kazakhstan, and numerous other countries to Waterville, Maine.

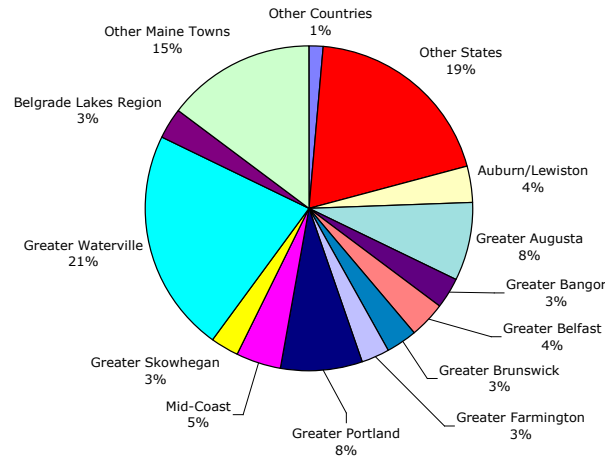

OUR AUDIENCE

The Maine International Film Festival attracts an educated, creative, and culturally diverse audience from across the State of Maine and beyond. According to statistics from Maine's Arts & Heritage Tourism Plan, "cultural tourists" tend to be better educated, more affluent, older, and spend on average $62 more per day than other travelers.

Our total admissions have grown significantly over the course of our 12 years, and total admissions soared above 10,000 in 2009.

A UNIQUE SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITY

MIFF is the only film festival of its size and significance in Northern New England. Each year the festival is featured in statewide and national media, and has been featured in magazines such as DownEast, AAA's Northern New England Journey, and Yankee.

By sponsoring MIFF, your company will join an elite group of supporters aligned with the vision and excitement that the independent film industry represents. Sponsorship of MIFF provides your company with the opportunity to promote itself in a highly visible way to a sophisticated and discerning audience.

SPONSOR BENEFITS*

Through a mix of access, exposure, placement, recognition, and exclusivity, each sponsor receives a tailored package of benefits that ensure its sponsorship goals are met. Sponsors are carefully integrated into the Festival's programs, events, and print materials to maximize relevant and high-impact exposure while at the same time enhancing the audience and guests' experience.

Basic sponsorship levels and the associated benefits are detailed on the reverse; however, each of these packages will be customized to meet the individual sponsor's needs and goals.*
